

Where Roads Come Together

A place for us all,
Where no one feels small,
A world we are hoping to build.
A banner of light,
For black and for white,
A world we are hoping to build.

With humility, and integrity,
A world where we all get to thrive.
Can you see it?
It's a vision of what could be.

So, this is the day,
That we want to say,
This world we are going to build.
It's what we all know,
And we want to show,
This world we are going to build.

With humility, and integrity,
A world where we all get to thrive.
Can you see it?
It's a vision of what could be.

Where roads come together,
We all need to learn where they're from.
Where rivers meet oceans
We all need to see them as one.
In a world full of awe and wonder,
We are standing here,
With a message for everyone,
To try and live as one, in harmony.

Inclusive and kind,
Where no one's defined,
A world that we all want to build.
With no need to hide,
And lived in in pride,
A world that we all want to build.

With humility, and integrity,
A world where we all get to thrive.
Can you see it?
It's a vision of what could be.

Where roads come together,
We all need to learn where they're from.
Where rivers meet oceans
We all need to see them as one.
In a world full of awe and wonder,
We are standing here,
With a message for everyone,
To try and live as one, in harmony.

Let's celebrate diversity in every walk of life.
A life of understanding, not of fear and not of strife.
Where war is conquered by peace,
And hatred will ever decrease.
Can you see it?
It's a vision of what could be.

Where roads come together,
We all need to learn where they're from.
Where rivers meet oceans
We all need to see them as one.
In a world full of awe and wonder,
We are standing here,
With a message for everyone,
To try and live as one,
In harmony,
In harmony,
In harmony.

Words and Music by David Scott-Thomas
© 2022 Whoops A Daisy Music. All rights reserved.
CCLI Song number 7229510